

1900's Regency Blue
In 1901 the reign of Queen Victoria ended and Edward VII became king. Regency Blue is a typical design of the day, with rich cobalt blue panels and maroon stylised florals, highlighted with gold accents.

1910's Duchess
George V came to the throne in 1910 and later in the decade World War I was endured. The Duchess pattern echoes the regency style with a solid black colour, but now with Royal Albert's signature florals.

1920's Spring Meadow
Spring Meadow reflects the emergence of a more positive era, after World War I, with beautiful spring flowers placed on a cream background.

1930's Polka Rose
In 1935 George VI came to the throne. Polka dots were extremely popular. Polka Rose has a soft green background and a single rose on the inside of the cup and centre of the saucer.

1940's English Chintz
In the 1940's World War II was fought and brought to an end by Winston Churchill. English Chintz is a pretty floral pattern with roses and forget me knots, typical of the chintz styles of the 1940's.

Celebrating a century of Royal Albert's rich heritage

It is not often that a brand reaches a landmark as significant as 100 years, which is why Royal Albert - known for its quintessentially English floral style - has chosen to mark ten decades of the company with a very special collection of fine bone china teaware

The Royal Albert 100 years collection features ten charming designs, all of which have either been taken directly from, or been inspired by, designs produced by the British brand over the past ten decades (1900's through to the 1990's) and many of which feature the delicate florals Royal Albert has become synonymous with over time.

Beautifully packaged in Royal Albert pink hat boxes, the collection is available to purchase in 10 sets of teacup, saucer and 20cm plate or as two sets of five teacups and saucers (1900 to 1940 and 1950 to 1990).

There is also a teapot, covered sugar bowl and cream jug set featuring the popular English Chintz (1940's) design to accompany the collection.

Choose your favourite and start your collection today.

English Chintz teapot, covered sugar bowl and cream jug set

1950's Festival
In 1952 the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II, at the age of 25, was seen the world over thanks to the wonder of television. The post-war era saw bolder florals signifying a re-birth.

1960's Golden Rose
The 1960's saw many changes in fashion, Beatlemania and the moon landing. In 1962 Old Country Roses was launched. The pattern was used in many guises, including this version with the rose design in gold on a pink background.

1970's Poppy
The 1970's were an era of flower power and high speed travel. Poppy is decorated in coral orange and yellow colours, bright colours reflecting the period.

1980's Holyrood
The 1980's were an era of wealth and power dressing. Prince Charles married Lady Diana Spencer. Holyrood is typical of popular patterns of the time with its formal border in rich burgundy and gold.

1990's Hartington Lane
In the 1990's there were huge technological developments, including the internet. Hartington Lane combines two popular designs of the decade - Hartington and Lilac Lane.

